Every Hero has a Story ... to Read!

By Jean Perry

The Mattapoisett Library has spent the summer delivering superhero-themed presentations and stories to area children, including the latest presentation by storyteller Rona Leventhol, as part of the library's Superhero Summer Reading Program. But as kids are reading about heroes of all shapes, sizes, and sorts, they themselves are taking on the roles of superheroes – simply by reading books.

Every superhero has a story to tell. That is the theme of this year's summer reading program. This year's program took a flying leap forward when a local donor, instead of purchasing prizes for kids who read six hours within six weeks as they do every year, decided to make donations to one of four local charities on behalf of each reader so the readers themselves could be the superheroes in their own community.

Children's Librarian at the Mattapoisett Library Linda Burke said the various fun summer programs and activities for the kids are one way of reinforcing the importance of reading, as well as the children's love for books.

Above & On the Cover: During Harbor Days, the Mattapoisett Lions Club volunteers worked tirelessly throughout the weekend to bring the annual tradition to the community as it does year after year. ### Facebook Fun Friday

Each week we give you a chance to win great stuff on our Facebook page. Check us out at www.facebook.com/wanderer and keep an eye out for the Friday post each week.

Congratulations to:

Caryn Gomes-Gloddy

who won last week's Facebook Fun Friday!

This week we'll have a a Gift Card to Dunkin' Donuts!

"We want the kids to maintain their reading skills throughout the summer," said Burke. "The best way to do that is to keep them reading."

Burke said she works hard to keep the activities, presentations, and challenges especially fun.

"It gets them into the library," said Burke. And that, she said, is how the library entices kids to keep up their reading and foster that love of books.

At the end of the reading program, on August 12, the library will host an ice cream party for participants who complete the reading challenge, and Burke says, "We don't limit the ice cream for the kids, either."

Yes, kids, it's all-you-can-eat ice cream and toppings, and all you have to do is something most kids love to do anyway: Read!

The donations in lieu of the prizes will go to four local nonprofits: All Hands Volunteers, Therapy Dogs of Cape Cod, the New Bedford Women's Center, and Helping Hands and Hooves.

Burke said when she told the young readers that instead of prizes, the money would be donated to these charities, "Not one of them said, 'ugh.'" She told them they themselves would be the heroes and help other children. And unlimited ice cream? Well, yeah, that helps, too.

ORR Senior Ready for Year Abroad Study

By Jean Perry

Old Rochester Regional High School student Cate Feldkamp is getting ready for senior year in a way that is above and beyond your average back-to-school shopping for clothes, shoes, and school supplies. She is spending her free time learning a new language, getting together her passport, itinerary, and official documents, and figuring out how to pack as much as she can into one Feldkamp's senior year will be unlike any of her peers' at ORR. In fact, no ORR student in at least four years has done what she is about to do. Feldkamp is preparing to embark on a year-long foreign exchange experience in Sweden, and she couldn't be more excited. For Feldkamp, the world is an open door just waiting for her to walk through.

"I just woke up one morning and decided I wanted to travel," said Feldkamp. She explored the option of graduating early to head abroad on mission trips, but while expressing her sudden desire to see the world, Feldkamp said the school administration thought it would be best if Feldkamp finished school in the AFS-USA foreign student exchange program.

ORR hosts about two to five foreign exchange students from other countries annually, but rarely does an ORR student seek to become a foreign exchange student herself, said Kim Corazzini, the ORR AFS-USA coordinator and school nurse.

"She got this in her head and pursued it," said Corazzini. Feldkamp went through the application process back in April, obtained the teacher recommendations she required, and went through an interview process before acceptance into the program. It was up to fate at that point as to whether or not she would go to Sweden.

"Essentially, you wait to see if [a family in the chosen country] chooses the student. And she was chosen pretty quickly," said Corazzini. "Cate really is a nice, nice kid. She has a lot of great qualities about her."

Feldkamp found out the week before the April school vacation that a family had accepted her.

"I was just speechless," said Feldkamp. "I couldn't believe it. I kept checking my email and when it came, I said, 'Oh, my gosh, this is actually happening. There's no turning back now. This is actually going to become my life.'"

There are some things Feldkamp will miss out on while she is away in Sweden for her entire senior year – like senior prom, graduation commencement, and all the other end-of-the-year activities that most ORR seniors look forward to. But what Feldkamp will experience instead will be something she wholeheartedly desires, something ORR could not offer her: a full immersion into a new culture, new language, and new traditions.

"I can't wait to experience something new and something different," said Feldkamp. "To live as someone else does, outside of my comfort zone."

Feldkamp said the schooling in Sweden is remarkably different than in the United States. For one thing, high school is more like "junior college," as Feldkamp described it. Study is based more on what interests the student rather than standard academics and a few electives.

"I won't just be taking classes I'm forced to," said Feldkamp. "I'll be taking classes I actually want to take."

There is some anxiety, though, as Feldkamp logs onto her Rosetta Stone account that the AFS-USA program gave her to learn Swedish. She knows that she will have to attend classes in another language, make new friends speaking a different language, and manage day-to-day life in another country far away from her family and friends.

"I think Christmas will be weird," said Feldkamp. And never having been away from her family for longer than two months at a time will surely foster a little homesickness, Feldkamp acknowledged. But then, she remembers what she is getting – a whole year abroad and the opportunity of a lifetime.

"I think that it's definitely scary," said Feldkamp. "It is a little scary to think about. I'll be living away from my family for a year with AFS." But hey, a lot of other kids in other countries do it, so why not she, said Feldkamp.

"There is a whole world out there," said Feldkamp. "It's not just Marion or Massachusetts. There's way more out there to see."

Feldkamp expects that, for the first few months at least, she will be "super homesick." And her friends are sad to see her go.

"They are sad. Definitely sad," she said. "We're just trying to spend as much time as possible together before I leave this summer."

Feldkamp has been in touch with her host family for months now, and she feels as though she knows them already.

"I love my family that I'm staying with so much already," Feldkamp said. "I know they care for me a lot, so I'm not too nervous about getting homesick, but I'm sure I'll miss my dog and my mom. I'm really close to my mom."

Feldkamp leaves for Sweden on August 19 and will not return home until July 4, 2016.

"I know I'll have lifelong friendships in the end with all the people I meet, and I'll have a totally new perspective on the world," said Feldkamp. "I'll also gain some independence doing more things by myself along the way."

Corazzini said the AFS-USA program at ORR is always looking for families to host a foreign exchange

Swimming

This Mattapoisett Life

By Marilou Newell

The anticipation of getting into the water at a beach began last February. Those long, dark, cold days and weeks of recuperation both for myself and for the land were a torture for the soul eased only by the image of swimming in July.

It wasn't a sure thing. After all, at my age, an injury can be life changing. Thankfully, mine was not. Oh sure, months later that knee which found itself smashed and swollen for what seemed like endless weeks of hell still reminds me, "spring chicken you are not." Being vertical is no longer taken for granted and achieved at times with those shooting, painful reminders from the knee. Swimming, the very thought of doing so, sends limitations back where they belong – mind over matter, onward and upward I go.

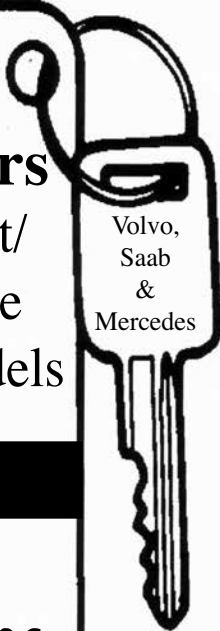

And so with the outside temperatures finally reaching a point where water evaporating on the skin isn't painful, where Mattapoisett Harbor's temperature is reasonable enough for one to plunge in, albeit decked out in a wetsuit, I did just that – carefully just beyond where the toddlers and their attentive mothers splash in the chilly surf. The first swim of the season was a victory of sorts for this ol' gal.

Advancing into the post-Fourth of July day by way of the salt water until that thin sheen of moisture lined the interior of the suit warming my torso, oh the joy of floating and then testing the knee, testing the hip, testing the shoulders and finding all in fair working order for a little swim, I allowed myself to enjoy heaven on earth.

level with the painted water lines of boats vacated by a work day, I bobbed about with them in unison not unlike assembled church-goers on a Sunday morning, quietly absorbing the silence of reverential contemplation and noting the light as it sparkled and changed, dancing across the water's surface. I was in the water and it was grand.

In the far distance from my vantage point, the marina launch moved a few people from watercraft to floating dock, their voices carried across the blue-black expanse as an inaudible chant reminding me I shared the day with others of my kind, so lost had I become to my thoughts, they returned me to myself.

Newly minted raft jumpers were practicing their ability to dive head first off the platform while the guards ensured their safety in doing so, themselves so young, so full to the brim with self-confidence. I swam closer, placing myself mid-way between toddlers testing their miniature feet's balancing on wet beach sand and latency aged youth so I could just hear the two age levels and felt myself to be ancient by contrast. "But you are here and this is good," I told myself as encouragement and consolation.

The day before, my friend had visited, proving once again her strength of character and will to live in spite of cancer and the cure's aftermath. There is no cure, but the purchase of precious time has been bought as her skin and eyes testify while that twinkle of mischief remains intact to delight the observer in me. I love her and will not allow myself to miss her – not now. There will be time for that, but not today.

Pushing that thought out instead, I think of her laughter the day I brought a cake to her house for a party, it must have been 1973. Thinking myself so clever, I had frosted a smiley face on the surface in orange icing on a yellow background. Silly now, but rather en vogue at the time, her laughter peeled upon my presentation of the dessert. I hear it still.

I paddle right then left, towards the raft and back towards the shore. The knee is sending a small but insistent message, "we'll be heading out of the water shortly so best enjoy this moment." I am. I am happy to find myself in high tide's ebbing, frog paddling around and being rewarded by the effort. I'm happy about my life, the things I do, my loved ones, friends and family. I am content at this moment in the water swimming, more simply because I can than the fact that I am.

When I came over the finish line at the 4th of July Road Race, falling into my husband's waiting arms, thrilled to have completed the course once again I

Smart about Star Wars

By Jean Perry

While many were out in Mattapoisett enjoying Harbor Days on Saturday, July 17, about a dozen or so young Star Wars fans gathered in a galaxy far, far away – Rochester, at the First Congregational Church, actually – for a chance to discuss all things Star Wars with each other and Star Wars expert Peter Struzziero.

Struzziero, a librarian in Belmont, has hosted just about 200 Star Wars symposiums for children and their families over the past five years, schooling them on the Force, the characters, the plotlines of the films, among other things about which non-Star Wars fanatics are clueless. (That includes me).

There was no hesitation from the group during a few trivia games Struzziero played with the lively and knowledgeable bunch. When it came to naming the characters and answering obscure questions, these kids' arms shot up like lightsabers to answer the question first.

"Wow, these kids are good, man!" exclaimed Plumb Library Assistant for Children's Services Lisa Fuller, keeping score while wearing her blue Star Wars tank top. The game seemed to turn into a game of "Stump Ryan Farias" of Mattapoisett, who won first place in the trivia contest. This kid knew everything.

The kids enjoyed some spoof Star Wars videos, like "Jedi Kitten with the Force," and a dog-lover and Lego version of the movies, as well. The kids and Struzziero also brought in tablefuls of memorabilia and Star Wars collectibles for a show and tell of sorts.

The kids posed for some photos with the life-size ewok, and then whipped out their lightsabers and chased each other around, pretending to fight and losing themselves in their imaginations.

"These symposiums are a way that I stay involved with children's programming," said Struzziero. He said, in addition to the six movies, there are over 6,000 Star Wars books ranging from beginner level to adult novels. "Sometimes the smaller crowds are better," like the one in Rochester that morning, said Struzziero. "You never know how many may show up." It could be 12, said Struzziero, or it could be 100.

"I'm just a nerd," said Struzziero. "And I love Star Wars." And that's good enough for these like-minded young Jedis.

Summer Walking Tours Begin

By Marilou Newell

Whether you are a day-tripper, summer resident, local, or even a townie listening to Seth Mendell during one of his tours, he will take you back to the time of rich economic expansion in Mattapoisett to meet the people who lived in the antique houses that grace the village streets.

The Mattapoisett Historical Society Museum is once again hosting a series of walking tours around the village guided by Mendell. Although the route may not vary from tour to tour, the content does as Mendell speaks extemporaneously, handing out slices of history from New Bedford to the Caribbean and back again to this little – but historically significant – village.

The first tour of the season took place in advance of the flocks of visitors who came to town for the annual Lions Club Harbor Days event. A group of about 30 walked along Main Street to Water Street, and out onto Long Wharf as Mendell carried them back in time.

Mendell's knowledge comes from his own investigations, coupled with those of his father, Charles Mendell, who wrote a fairly comprehensive history of whaling in this area back in the 1930s for the Old Dartmouth Historical Society. These men – father and son – have deep roots in the area with the younger Mendell's local lineage going back on both his maternal and paternal sides. Thus, when you listen to Mendell, you are hearing not only his take on local history, but also the cumulative accounts of many generations.

As the tour wound its way through the village, Mendell told the group that men in the whaling trade also ran taverns and inns to support the many workers and travelers coming into Mattapoisett. Pointing at houses along Main Street from Town Hall to Water Street, Mendell pointed out several that were used as public houses, general stores, and taverns.

Of cabinetmakers, he said that theirs was a very profitable trade because cabinetmakers also built coffins. Those were always in high demand.

Arriving at the Mattapoisett Land Trust parcel known as Munro Preserve, Mendell pointed towards Goodspeed Island and detailed the process by which salt was pulled from the neighboring harbor.

"One barrel of salt was needed for three barrels of fish," he said, going on to say that the importance of salt trumped the importance of gold during these times.

Before the Revolutionary War, salt had been imported from England, Spain, and France. With the advent of the war, colonists had to find another source; hence, the evaporation process was developed. Mendell said salt cured both meats and fish, making it possible to survive long winters. And without salt, he asked, "What were you going to eat?" The process itself was nothing short of life sustaining, he inferred.

Mendell helped the group imagine a time when, along what is now a barrier beach near the Reservation

Golf Club, raised vats stood approximately 12 feet square by 1 foot deep set on posts and fed water by windmills. The sun evaporated the water, leaving behind salt and other minerals. Shed roofs that were slid into place as needed were constructed to protect the drying vats from weather conditions. The whole process took about one month to complete.

Arriving at Long Wharf, Mendell directed the group's attention landward to Shipyard Park and told them that shipbuilding required long narrow strips of land. This allowed many builders to occupy a fairly small space from Pearl Street to Mechanics Street. Such well-known street names were once the names of the builders themselves, such as Barstow, Holmes, and Cannon.

Joshua Holmes was responsible for building the last whaling ship, The Wanderer, whose massive mainsail is now the flagpole centered in Shipyard Park. And the whaling vessel, The Acushnet, – best known as the ship on which Herman Melville sailed as a young man, whetting his creative imagination and powers of observing human nature and turning it all into the international best seller, Moby Dick – was built right here in Mattapoisett.

The most prominent shipbuilder of his day does not have a street named after him. That man was Joseph Meigs who owned what is now the Inn at Shipyard Park. His is a rags-to-riches story as Meigs went from being a poor Rochester farm boy to a major businessman through sheer force of single-minded determination.

One of the tourists asked if Marion had been part of this boom in the ship building trade. To a much lesser degree, Mendell said, since Marion's harbor was too shallow for large whaling vessels, coupled with a small island that made navigating into the harbor difficult at best for boats of any size. For this reason, Nantucket also lost its significance, he said, as a shipbuilding port. As the ships became larger for sailing farther and farther out to sea in search of whales, shallow harbors could not support them. New Bedford and Mattapoisett became the prime movers of shipbuilding.

Mendell told the group that these men "were men of the world," traveling far and wide and bringing back not only exotic goods, but cultural experiences that helped to shape the colonies.

Mendell gives several tours and talks during the summer months, sponsored by the historical museum. #### CANINE ALLERGIES

My dog spends lots of time chewing and licking at his feet. What does this mean?

Your dog is showing signs of allergies. People with allergies tend to cough and sneeze. Dogs tend to chew, lick and rub.

What can my dog be allergic to and what should I do?

Your dog can be allergic to food, fleas, articles that he contacts such as wool rugs and all of the pollens, molds and dusts that affect people. Try to keep a diary of your dogs itchiness to determine if it occurs all year round or if it is seasonal. Food allergies tend to be constant throughout the year while allergies to pollens tend to be seasonal. Talk to your veterinarian about diet changes, medications and allergy testing to determine what may be most helpful for your pet.

talk to the artists about the pieces selected for display.

Baker, based in Martha's Vineyard, exhibits a casual boldness in many of her monotypes, using color almost with an intentional happenstance as she expresses in her work her perception of change – in the landscape and in her response to it.

Stand before one of her monotype series on the main floor of the MAC and be confronted with pure green, orange, and turquoise, and resist the urge to dive right into one of them and let the bold, defiant strokes of paint on the surface of serenity draw you further and further in.

The series of landscapes evokes a feeling of the familiar stillness of a Mattapoisett estuary afternoon. The pinkish orange haze that appears to billow out from the canvas into the second floor gallery; the passing of the seasons by the sea at twilight, dawn, and dusk; the ebb and flow of the estuary tide that empties into the sea. Moments captured in time that is ever changing.

"Now and Then," said Baker, is "showing where I came from."

In her series, "Birches," Baker says her work is all about observable change and preserving the moment.

"The vertical, always shedding trunks, tiny green buds opening to almond-shaped leaves..." says Baker, describing the essence of change among the seemingly static birch trees. "Then light changes everything. Small changes, every day."

The work reflects the hitting of the light and the landscape's response to it. She said she approaches the series with playfulness, invention, and surprise: "a refined vision." Baker tends to work in a series, she said.

"Some ideas can't be expressed in a single piece," says Baker. "It has to be a way for me to develop and change as an artist."

Aufranc has several sculptures on display inside the MAC, but the most notable are the large kinetic sculptures on display outside around the gallery. "Osprey" stands before the front of the building, reaching for the sky as an abstract figure of an osprey comes to land atop its delicate twig nest.

The exhibit runs until August 19 and can be

The Rochester Board of Selectmen, although not a party to the permitting process for the project, was included in the conversation as a courtesy, said NextSun Energy Project Manager Amelia Tracy, after the community responded with concerns over screening. Concerns focused on the selective cutting of older, taller trees along the initially proposed 20-foot buffer around the site to be clear-cut to make way for solar arrays.

"We decreased the size of the project in an effort to screen it out more," said Tracy. "We had a completely different-shaped project before." She called this latest plan a "less impactful project."

Tracy said the project was scaled down in size to provide for a wider buffer of 80 feet along the perimeter instead of the 20 feet. The developer also proposes placing a conservation restriction for the 25-year duration of the project on a portion of the property NextSun is purchasing, the old Gibbs dairy farm between Dexter Lane and New Bedford Road.

"I know there's been a lot of buzz about [the project]," said Tracy. For this reason, the company provided an early rendering of the view of the solar farm from the abutting historic cemetery. Low-lying vegetation would be left alone and only the selective cutting of trees that would cast a shade on the panels would be carried out. Additional trees and shrubs for further screening would be added.

"Our project, as we see it, is going to be completely screened from New Bedford Road," said Tracy. She said only one 20-foot wide access road would be visible from the road, with no view of the solar arrays. From the cemetery, said NextSun Energy President Jacob Laskin, a faint line of the solar arrays would be visible.

Abutter to the project, Matthew Monteiro, said, "So if I am standing in the historic district, I can see the solar panels." Tracy reminded Monteiro that the company has yet to file any applications with the Town. According to Laskin, NextSun attempted to file with the Planning Board without success, but will again file in the near future for a site plan review.

"We do feel it's a good use [of the land]," said Tracy. "We do feel we would be a good neighbor." For example, she said, the project would contribute to the town's tax base without drawing on municipal services.

Resident, former town moderator, and former candidate for selectman Greenwood "Woody" Hartley asked what the value of the project would be, which NextSun representatives said would be about $1.75 million. Hartley urged selectmen and abutters to consider, as opposed to a strip mall moving in, there would be no nighttime light pollution or noise.

"This is a passive neighbor once it's done," said Hartley. "I'd just hate to see us shut it out..."

But it is the neighbors who would experience the most impact, said Town Counsel Blair Bailey. "They're going to want to know if you can or cannot see it from a public way. From a neighbor's standpoint, that's going to come up with the Planning Board."

Also during the meeting, selectmen and Bailey discussed their strategy to get Melinda and Liberal Teixeira of 386 North Avenue to comply with the board's August 2014 orders to either build a proper shelter for their kennel dogs or cease the kennel's operation.

According to Bailey, the Teixeiras appealed the board's decision in District Court and then did not appear at the hearing, thus subjecting themselves to the order to comply by default. Since then, the animal control officer has issued a number of violation tickets, and selectmen urged the ACO to continue to issue fines of $50 and $100 per violation every day. The police chief has also filed criminal charges against the couple. The Teixeiras are now operating a kennel without a permit.

"Hopefully we end up in court this week with some sort of court order," Bailey said. "That's (the tickets and the criminal complaint) literally the only teeth we have." He said, frankly, he hopes to move forward with the criminal complaint.

"Then it becomes a warrant and that is a serious thing," said Bailey.

According to Bailey, the Teixeiras have approached the police chief with concern about the tickets.

"Hopefully we've gotten their attention," said Bailey. "But I don't want to give anybody any false hope," Bailey said to neighbors of the Teixeiras present in the room. "We're doing what we can to ramp up the pressure." He then suggested neighbors contact the ACO when they observe the Teixeiras at home so the ACO can appear to inspect the premises. Bailey said the ACO has not had luck finding anyone at home, and, without a warrant, the ACO is unable to enter the property to inspect.

Board of Selectmen Chairman Richard Nunes asked if anything had changed at all on the property since the Teixeiras' initial appeal.

"No," said Bailey. "The ACO actually said, from the time that she went out in that 14 days ... she actually

REGAL HOUSE, a privately owned furniture store first opened it's doors in 1988 at Kings Highway Plaza in New Bedford Ma. It was founded by Albino and Maria Santos, their son ,the late Steven Santos and daughter Debra Santos Holden.

In 1991 due to their growing success, Regal House started to look for additional warehouse space. They found what they were looking for at 965 Church St. and the building and land were purchased to accompany the need for warehouse space. In 1993 they increased the building size at 965 Church St. to 40,000+ square feet and the showroom and warehouse came together under the same roof.

REGAL HOUSE is much more than a retail furniture store today. On site certified interior designers are available to assist customers in the showrooms or at their home, (yes still making house calls) bringing the latest in designs, fashion trends, colors, upholstery and fabrics. They also assist in paint selection, area rugs, and new this year custom window treatments.

Today, you can spot three generations, Maria, Debra and Paige (while on summer break from college), working throughout the store. They are proud of their 27 years and staff of over 23 local employees which include their own in house delivery team.

So please if you've never visited REGAL HOUSE FURNITURE, please stop by and discover for yourself how a hard working and dedicated staff have been able to sustain a local business for three generations. counted more dogs [than counted in the past.]" He said he would like to see the Teixeiras ticketed every day. "It's a nuisance and it's also a violation of the Town bylaws. It's a fine and it's enforceable in District Court, and, ultimately, Superior Court."

"We're hitting it at as many angles as we can," said Selectman Naida Parker.

In other matters, Rochester's water commissioners attended to update selectmen on the status of the renewal of the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection's 20-year Water Management Act Permit, which regulates the quantity of water towns and districts can withdraw from waterways and water sources.

Water commissioner Fred Underhill said the DEP would reduce the amount of water Rochester and other surrounding towns could draw, which, he said, would be a problem.

"Our 50 percent would be reduced," said Underhill. "The 200 plus Rochester water residents will see an increase in cost, and probably a reduction in what they'll be able to use."

Underhill said he would keep the board updated as the process unfolds.

Town Meeting Was Held Without a Quorum

Rochester Board of Selectmen Part Two

By Jean Perry

Selectmen admitted July 20 to the recent discovery that the June 8 Rochester Annual Town Meeting was held without a quorum, resulting in town counsel's scurrying for a solution.

The Rochester Board of Selectmen, Town Administrator Michael McCue, and Town Counsel Blair Bailey all appeared visibly unprepared for the questioning initiated by former town moderator and former candidate for selectman Greenwood "Woody" Hartley, after he called for selectmen to reopen their July 20 meeting after they had already adjourned so he could address the board.

Hartley claimed to have received a number of phone calls alleging the absence of a quorum of 100 at the Annual Town Meeting, saying the meeting never should have been opened.

Bailey admitted that he became aware of the concern a couple of weeks ago when Town Clerk/Selectman Naida Parker was preparing the documents from the Annual Town Meeting for submission to the Attorney General's Office and noticed a total number of Town Meeting members present was not listed. She then approached Bailey once she realized only 91 Town Meeting members were present, nine short of a quorum.

"I believe the [attorney general] had mentioned that this is not unusual," said McCue. "Other towns have had not having a quorum at their annual town meeting."

Bailey contacted the AG's office, as well as State Representative Bill Straus' office, to ask for special legislation that would allow the Annual TM to stand, as well as all the articles voted upon during TM.

The two other selectmen, Chairman Richard Nunes and Selectman Bradford Morse, both said they had only learned of the matter in an email sent to them the night before the meeting.

Hartley wondered how this could happen, saying he could not recall the presence of a quorum being announced or questioned at the start of the Annual TM, only the presence of a quorum of 75 for the preceding Special Town Meeting announced by newly elected Town Moderator Kirby Gilbert.

"I would like to know from the town clerk how that happened," said Hartley to Parker. He had been town moderator for 20 years, pointing out that this had never happened before.

Parker said she called a quorum of 100 at TM, but "I wasn't agreed with."

"This is way more serious," said Hartley. "I hate to see this happen, and I don't think we should get a free pass on this (from the AG). Somebody ought to fess up," he said, instead of "scurrying around behind the scenes."

Hartley said he himself would contact Straus' office to specifically ask him not to allow the Annual TM to stand.

"The Town should fix this right away," said Hartley.

"I agree with you," said Nunes to Hartley. "When I found out about it, I was just as concerned about it as you." However, said Nunes, does the Town stick with operating under the fiscal year 2015 budget at this time? Does the Town nullify its amended bylaws? Nunes said nobody knew there was no quorum.

"Naida knew," Hartley shot back.

"No, I didn't know until after..." said Parker. "We started the Special (TM) and I never got down to check, and Kirby didn't call it."

That is a failure, Hartley stated twice. "That's just a failure. It should've happened the right way." He said he waited before questioning selectmen and Parker about the quorum to see how they would handle it.

"Good golly, we should have good government and this isn't good government," said Hartley.

Nunes pointed out that, last year, Mattapoisett also discovered its town meeting did not have a quorum, and the Town followed the same route Rochester is following – to garner support for special legislation to accept the TM without the quorum. Otherwise, said Nunes, the town accrues further expenses holding another Annual TM, wreaking havoc with the current budget and bylaw amendments.

"It has been reported to the attorney general, so that's been noted," said Parker. "They are aware that there was not a quorum."

To be clear, said Bailey, he didn't hear about the problem until a couple of weeks ago. He hesitated to announce anything until he could encounter a viable solution to the matter.

"Best I can tell, it was a miscommunication," said Bailey. "I don't think he (Gilmore) made a reference to the quorum at the Annual." Just during the Special Town Meeting.

Nunes assured Hartley that the Town would not have held the town meeting if anyone knew there was no quorum.

"And to me, it was new territory," said Bailey.

But that is the beauty of having the pink cards, said Hartley. There is a number on each card. "I'm unhappy about the way it makes us look," said Hartley. Morse said the issue was between the town moderator and the town clerk.

Nunes agreed that Hartley was right, and agreed that the selectmen should have been informed about the petition to Straus' office so a formal vote could be taken.

"If the Town is asking a state rep to file special legislation, then damn it, the Board of Selectmen should know about it," said Nunes raising his voice. "They should know about it."

Bailey insisted he could not come to the board without any idea on what to do – not until he had a solution to offer them. At this point, he said, the Town will wait to hear back from Straus.

"I think the selectmen should take the lead on this," said Hartley. "I've heard two different stories about how it happened."

Bailey said he understands Hartley's concern, but he resented the implication that there was a cover-up.

"It falls on me to come up with a legal remedy," said Bailey. "Sitting right here, I don't have an answer."

"My first call would have been all three selectmen," said Hartley. "Selectmen need to know this shit."

Parker again defended her actions, saying she didn't know until almost 30 days later when she was filing with the AG's office. "I had no reason to count them."

"However you slice it," said Bailey, "it's a mess."

The question is how to fix it at this point. And that's up to the selectmen."

After the meeting, Bailey said he believes the combination of a new town moderator, a new town administrator, and a newly-amended quorum, which was increased last year from 75 to 100, was where the problem likely happened.

Brandt Point Village Discussed, Again

Mattapoisett Planning Board

By Marilou Newell

During the July 20 meeting of the Mattapoisett Planning Board, an informal discussion regarding the Brandt Point Village subdivision garnered another hour of questions, concerns, and debate.

The new owner, Joseph Fortado, along with his attorney, John McGreen, and engineer, Al Loomis, met with the Planning Board members to discuss decreasing the number of housing units planned for Phase 2.

The original plan set out 34 housing units for Phase 2. Fortado and his team asked if the board would approve a decrease in that number down to 24.

"Reducing the density in the neighborhood by ten lots would make a more saleable product," said Fortado. "Drainage and infrastructure has not changed one bit. We are just reducing the number of lots."

This brought out the issue of the total number of bedrooms the subdivision had been permitted to build per dwelling, this time by Gail Carlson who lives in a home constructed under Phase 1.

Carlson said there are presently 21 bedrooms total in the homes that comprise Phase 1. If the board allowed 24 three-bedroom homes in Phase 2, that would place the total number of bedrooms at 93. The enclosed septic system designed to service the entire development is permitted for a maximum of 90 bedrooms. That, Carlson pointed out, was worrisome.

Fortado said he would have to investigate the total bedroom count in Phase 1, and, if necessary, reduce the newly proposed 24 units for Phase 2 to an even lower number.

"If I have to lose another lot, I'll lose another lot," he conceded.

Loomis said, "The question at hand is, can we come to the board with a form A?" This type of petition would allow the board to grant an applicant the right to move deeded lot lines. Acting Chairman John Mathieu had no problem with such a request while board member Karen Field wasn't so sure.

"Until this bedroom issue is resolved," said Field, "I'm not sure."

Next, the group discussed ongoing concerns associated with the Phase 1 entrance road.

Fortado wanted to use the Town's engineering firm, Field Engineering, while Highway Surveyor Barry Denham thought that the applicant's design firm, McKenzie Engineering, should own the responsibility for the quality of the road. In the end, it was collectively decided that core samples and technical aspects of the road would be handled by Loomis and McKenzie Engineering.

Fields asked, "And if the front portion fails?" Fortado replied, "That's my problem."

Carlson asked who is checking a number of items that were suppose to have been completed in Phase 1 by the previous developer such as sidewalks, lighting, maintenance of drainage system, and confirmation that the septic system is operating properly. Fortado said that

Residents, Board Air Solar Farm Concerns

Marion Planning Board

By Anne Smith

A letter dated July 16, 2015 from G.A.F.

Engineering and addressed to the Marion Board of Selectmen about the withdrawal of seven acres of Chapter 61A agricultural / horticultural use land for the purpose of a solar farm prompted a new line of questioning from the Marion Planning Board on the first night of public hearings for the proposed Tucker Lane solar farm.

The board asked the project's engineer, Bob Rogers, to present more detailed site plans reflecting the July 16 withdrawal of some, but not all, of the land from Chapter 61A status.

"You have created a smaller lot within a legal lot and only the smaller lot matters," Chairman Robert Lane told Rogers.

Lane hoped that Rogers could confirm that the existing plans will meet the dimensional requirements of the acreage that was taken out of 61A, but Rogers – at first confused at what was being asked – will require time to sit down with the landowners and project developers to consider the board's assertion that once the seven acres is withdrawn from Chapter 61A use, the land requirements of the project might change.

Clean Energy Collective's two representatives, present at the public hearing, assured the board that the plans would be updated to reflect the 61A changes in preparation for the board's next meeting, which is also the public hearing's continuance.

"The important thing is, what you have elected to remove from 61A is [now] what you have to work with," Lane instructed. "It's a lot for dimensional and development purposes ... hopefully it's just a clerical and administrative issue that you can work on."

Despite the confusion caused by the July 16 letter, the board was pleased with the site plans.

"It is incumbent on us to be thorough and careful throughout the process," Lane said at the start of the hearing, assuring Marion residents that the board would practice due diligence for what will be the first solar farm proposed under the new solar bylaw.

Rogers expressed his own favor for proceeding slowly.

"From our perspective, G.A.F.'s perspective, it's good to have a full public hearing with Planning Board and a full public hearing with Conservation Commission." Rogers is also working with the Rochester Planning Board as part of the project – the construction of the gravel access road – falls within Rochester's borders.

In his presentation, Rogers said that there are not many moving parts to the project: a chain link fence, a gravel access road, the solar panel array, and the limits of tree clearing.

"The only thing that requires some engineering is the drainage design," Rogers said. "There are no community impacts associated with traffic and schools," he concluded.

Many Marion residents expressed initial concern about the proposed tree clearing, but Rogers was quick to ease any worries. First, he pointed out that the tree clearing is minimal – only enough to allow construction for the drainage basin and to clear paths for the access road and electrical wires.

"Any trees under 20 feet stay; any larger are cut down with the stumps left," Rogers said. Second, the intent is to keep the clearing natural. Maintenance of the property will also keep the property – an existing hay field – natural.

"It will be maintained to the point of preventing growth in the space between panels," Rogers said. "There will be periodic weed whacking, if you will."

Comments from the board members were largely positive.

"I'm looking forward to the process; I'm looking forward to how the bylaw is going to handle this," board member Steve Gonsalves said.

"It's all very good, it just has to be done in the right way to protect the citizens," board member Dr. Michael Popitz said.

Marion residents, largely residents of the Tucker Lane neighborhood who will abut the proposed solar farm, expressed concerns about their property values, the visibility of the solar farm from their homes, the sufficiency of the $39,000 placed in escrow in the event that the solar farm is decommissioned, and the general impact that the solar farm will have on their homes.

Lane was quick to encourage residents to participate in every stage of the process, especially given that many residents are just learning about the project and will require more time to digest information and develop questions for the civil engineers and project manager.

"I think you and your neighbors should do what you feel is appropriate to protect yourselves," Lane said.

"Go read the bylaws and see what your protection is," board member Rico Ferrari recommended.

Board member Norman Hills also offered concerned residents advice.

"You should participate in these meetings and listen to the engineers resolve these questions before you jump to conclusions," he said.

To that end, the team of Clean Energy Collective and G.A.F. Engineering announced that there is an initial public hearing for the project with the Rochester Planning Board on July 28 at 7:00 pm. The public hearing with the Marion Planning Board will be continued at the board's next meeting on August 3 at 7:15 pm. There is also an opportunity to learn about the project at the Marion Conservation Commission's meeting on July 22 at 7:00 pm, although this is not a public hearing.

Commission has tried to get two property owners into some sort of reasonable compliance with wetlands protection laws, and ever so slowly it now appears that the commission is gaining ground.

The July 21 meeting started after commission members returned from a site visit to property owned by Robin Baptista of 78 Alley Road.

Represented by Kevin Ford of G.A.F. Engineering, Baptista came forward with a new plan for wetlands restoration.

Conservation Agent Laurell Farinon outlined the extent of the violations. In back of the house, grading and earth movement was done in the 100-foot buffer zone. Farinon said no permits were requested and, after being ordered to stop and directed to file appropriate applications, Baptista continued earthworks in jurisdictional areas.

Ford described 2,400 square feet of wetlands in one location that have been disturbed by Baptista, an area under the control of the commission. He said that an additional 476 square feet in another location has also been disturbed.

Ford said Baptista wished to return the 25-foot no touch zone to a natural state by re-seeding with a wetlands mixture.

Commission member Michael Conway expressed concern over a utility pole situated within the 25-foot no touch zone. He said, in his estimation, the pole should be removed along with all associated electrical wiring.

Commissioner member John Teal said, "My inclination would be to leave it.... It will be more trouble to move it." That led commission member Laurene Gerrior to say, "It's wrong, and everyone else has to do it right."

Ford replied to these statements, saying, "I think it does no good to move it." Baptista told them that the pole had been there prior to his owning the property. That issue was then dropped.

ConCom member Kevin Cassidy said he wanted to see something more than siltation fencing along the no touch zone. Farinon said the fencing has been installed incorrectly and would need immediate attention.

"The fencing is a high priority ... backed up by wattles or hay bales," said Farinon.

The plans submitted were inconclusive regarding what type of demarcation Baptista intended to install along the no touch zone. In the absence of that, and the need to repair the fencing, Farinon suggested that the hearing be continued. The commission agreed.

Then came the Lalli enforcement order. Travis and Dustin Lalli have been before the commission and given directives to repair earthworks, to cease and desist activities affecting wetlands on the property, and come up with engineered plans, including engaging a wetlands scientist.

Farinon reported that she met with Travis and inspected the areas that he had backfilled with the ConCom's approval. She attested that the work was done well. She also said the Lallis' attorney, Andrea McKnightly, sent a letter stating that Outback Engineering has been engaged by the brothers to help them prepare necessary data for the commission.

Chairman Rosemary Smith concluded, "They have been in contact as they promised, and they are moving forward as they promised."

Both matters were continued until the next Rochester Conservation Commission meeting scheduled for August 4 at 7:00 pm in the Rochester Police Station conference room.

Keel Awards

The Wanderer is pleased once again to announce that we are soliciting nominations for our 20th annual "Wanderer Keel Awards." The yearly community service honor - which is presented to one Tri-Town resident from each of the three central towns in our circulation area - will be announced in our July 30 edition, and each winner will be the subject of a short feature highlighting their contributions to the local community. But The Wanderer needs your help in selecting these "unsung heroes."

The requirements are simple. Nominees must be legal residents, for at least five years, of Mattapoisett, Marion or Rochester and must have contributed in some way to the overall benefit of the community – either directly to town residents, or indirectly through efforts in promoting town activities, or working to keep the wheels of local government well oiled. The only restriction is that these persons cannot benefit from their efforts in any other way – either financially or politically (hence, sitting elected officials are not eligible).

In doing this, we hope to applaud those who are rarely recognized for their countless hours of service and focus on the many people behind the scenes who remain of Marion's Master Plan, a document that will guide the Town's evolution through the coming decade and beyond. Community input is essential for producing a valuable, constructive plan that truly represents all of our voices. This forum will focus particularly on land use, economic development, and coping with climate change.

Assisting us with the planning process are professionals from the Southeast Regional Planning and Economic Development District (SRPEDD) as well as three advisory committees composed of selected community members and representatives from town boards.

Please mark your calendar today for this important Public Forum: 9:00 am – 1:00 pm on August 1 at the Marion Music Hall. Your engagement, input, and participation will ensure that Marion's Master Plan will protect our Town's special charm while meeting the future needs of our residents. ## Marion Art Center Celebrates 58 Years

The Marion Art Center celebrates 58 years of serving the area as a unique community center for the arts.

This year, classes and lessons in music, art, dance and theater were offered throughout the year. ArtStart, a summer program for children is running its 29th year. The theater has recently produced Dixie Swim Club, Anton Chekov's Seagull, Drinking Habits and Love, Loss and What I Wore. Rehearsals are underway for its summer comedy production A Bad Year For Tomatoes by John Patrick. MAC hosted the Halloween Parade and the Fourth of July float won fourth place in the Civic Group division! Special events included the 9th annual Arts in the Park at Bicentennial Park with over 40 artisans exhibiting beautiful handmade jewelry, paintings and ceramics. One of eight gallery shows during the year, the gallery is currently hosting an exhibition of mono-prints and oils by Copley Society master Leslie Baker and sculpture by St. George Tucker Aufranc.

Membership is open to all and the annual membership drive is underway. For information, please call 508-748-1266, visit the website www.marionartcenter.org, and click on the Membership tab, or stop by during gallery hours: Tuesday - Friday, 1:00 to 5:00 pm, Saturdays, 10:00 am to 2:00 pm. The Marion Art Center is located at 80 Pleasant Street, Marion, MA 02738. Admission to the galleries is free and open to the public.

Teen Wharf Dances Cancelled

Due to low attendance, the teen wharf dances sponsored by the Mattapoisett Track Club have been cancelled for the remainder of the summer. If there is enough interest, we may hold a dance on August 27, the last Thursday before the start of school.

SLT Free Yoga Class and Storywalk

Come to a free yoga class on Saturday, July 25 at 9:00 am at the Sippican Lands Trust's beautiful, waterfront property Brainard Marsh, which is located off of Delano Road in Marion. Kripalu-certified instructor Angela Curry will lead the session. For your own comfort, please remember to bring a yoga mat and water. Bug spray is suggested. Parking is available at the site. Enjoy!

Also this month, grab your kids and head out to Osprey Marsh on Point Road to enjoy a self-guided, storywalk highlighting the book A Day in the Salt Marsh by Kevin Kutz. Storywalks promote physical fitness and literacy in nature and are a great way to spend time together!

Thank You for Your Support

The Friends of the Mattapoietts Council on Aging thanks everyone who joined us last Sunday at Harbor Days. The FMCoA is the fundraising arm of the Council. The sales help support the free luncheons that are given three times a year to about 100 seniors. We also provide free, first-run movies each month. In addition, we supply the senior center with coffee, tea, and cocoa, as well as support activities such as bingo, scrabble, mah-jongg, crafts, and knitting.

We're in the midst of our mid-year recruiting campaign. Come sign up online. You can get an application online at http://www.mattapoietts.net/Pages/MattapoiettsMA\_COA/FOEApplication.pdf or at the Senior Center. We welcome your support and assistance in accomplishing our mission. You are invited to come to our business meeting at the Senior Center at 3:00 pm on the first Monday of each month. Consider volunteering and becoming a Friend.

Marilyn Monroe Matinée Series

The public is invited to enjoy Sippican Historical Society and Marion Council on Aging's summertime collaboration: The Best of Marilyn. Beginning on Tuesday, August 4 and continuing over the following three weeks, the organizations will present a selection of Marilyn Monroe's most popular and acclaimed films.

The selection for Tuesday, August 4 is Gentlemen Prefer Blondes. Co-starring Jane Russell, the film chronicles two lounge singers from Little Rock, who work their way to Paris on a transatlantic cruise, enjoying the company of eligible men they meet along the way. The colorful 1953 musical features Monroe at her best as guileless fortune teller Lorelei Lee, with Russell as her practical sidekick. A careful balance between musical and comedy, gold digging and sentimental dreams, the film is a classic.

Tuesday, August 11 will feature The Seven Year Itch. Co-starring Tom Ewell and Evelyn Keyes, the film tells the tale of a married man who falls for the blonde bombshell upstairs while his wife is on vacation. The 1955 comedy was directed by Billy Wilder and is mostly immediately recognizable for its iconic image of Monroe standing atop a subway grate, skirts billowing. Based on a popular Broadway play written by George Axelrod, The Seven Year Itch helped turn Monroe from a sensation into a

Obituaries:

Daniel C. Lee, Jr. passed away on July 9, 2015 at the age of 78 after a long and brave battle fighting prolonged illness. He was the beloved husband of nearly 53 years of Marilyn (Kinney) Lee, and the son of the late Daniel C. Lee and the late Lois M. (Shaw) Lee.

Born in New Bedford, Dan lived in North Dartmouth for a short time before moving with his family to Portsmouth, New Hampshire for four years because his father was an electrician working on submarines during World War II. During that time, he learned to spot planes. This led him to become an airplane enthusiast and he became a model plane builder and flyer. At the age of 12 he became a national champion control flyer.

After World War II, Dan's family moved to Florida where his father raised and raced greyhounds for five years. The family then returned to Dartmouth.

Dan graduated from Dartmouth High School, and over the past 60 years enjoyed reminiscing with friends at annual reunions. He received a B.S. in Pharmacy from Northeastern University (New England College of Pharmacy). During and after college, he played semi-pro baseball for the New York Yankees organization. He played two seasons for the Single A Mansfield Yankees. He was a lifelong Boston Red Sox fan, and was happily astounded when the Sox won not one but three World Series.

In the late 1950s and early 1960s, Dan served in United States Army Reserves.

Dan worked at St. Luke's Hospital, Union Hospital which became Parkwood Hospital, consulted at Nantucket Cottage Hospital and Doctor's Chronic Hospital. He worked at Union/Parkwood for 25 years as Director of Hospital Pharmacy, retiring from there. After retiring, Dan worked at Phoenix Pharmacy in Fairhaven and Medicine Shoppe Pharmacy in New Bedford. He also taught Pharmacology at the Salter School in Fall River. He had papers published in Lippincott's Hospital Magazine on preparing various inhalation (oxygen) supplies.

Dan believed that giving back to the greater New Bedford community, and in particular his adopted hometown of Mattapoietts, was important. His father-in-law, Mattapoietts Chief of Police Alden S. Kinney, was a mentor to him in this regard. For 47 years, Dan was elected to the Mattapoietts Board of Health. He was Chapter Chairman of the New Bedford Chapter of the American Red Cross, started the Visiting Nurses Program in Mattapoietts, was a charter member of Mattapoisett's Rescue One, which is now Mattapoisett's Rescue and EMT Service, was a Volunteer Firefighter, was a member of the Mattapoisett Lions Club, and the Florence Eastman Post #280. Dan was also a youth sports coach for Rochester Youth Hockey and Mattapoisett Little League Baseball, and proudly coached his son, Danny, in both organizations. He coached the Mattapoisett Babe Ruth Team in the 1980's. That team became statewide champions, of which Dan was immensely proud.

Dan, like his father Charlie, was a Master Mason, and Past Master of Star in the East Lodge in New Bedford. Masonry was very important to Dan, and he received his Veteran's Medal in 2011 for 50 years of service.

For all of his community and volunteer service, President Barack Obama authorized that a President's Volunteer Service Award be presented to Dan. His daughter, Darcy, the local certifying agent for this award, presented it as a representative of the President of the United States in 2013.

Dan is survived by his wife, Marilyn (Kinney) Lee, his son Daniel C. Lee III and his wife Tracey (Robert) Lee, his daughter Darcy Hope Lee, his grandchildren Casey (Lee) Rogers and her husband Adam Rogers, Owen Kinney Lee, Madeleine Olivier Lee, his great granddaughter Alice Carole Rogers, his brother David Shaw Lee, nieces and nephews, and many, many friends.

Visiting hours were held on Tuesday, July 14 at Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Road, Mattapoisett. Funeral services were on Wednesday, July 15 at the Funeral Home, burial was at Cushing Cemetery, Mattapoisett and the celebration of life immediately followed. Gilbert F. "Gilly" Leonardo, 61, of Marion, died Tuesday, July 14, 2015 at McCarthy Care Center in Sandwich. He was the husband of Donna M. (Albert) Leonardo.

Born in New Bedford, Gilly was the son of Bessie R. (Baker) Leonardo of New Bedford and the late Gilbert F. Leonardo, Sr. and has lived in Marion for over 30 years.

Gilly was a foreman for the Town of Marion Department of Public Works where he worked for 34 years. He also was the animal control officer and was a call firefighter for the Marion Fire Department.

He is survived by his wife Donna; his son, Gilbert F. Leonardo, III of Mattapoisett; his brothers and sisters, Sandra Buckles of Marion, Patricia Pereira of Enoree, SC, Debra Ward, Michael Leonardo, Steven Leonardo, Cheryl Sampson and Robert Leonardo all of New Bedford.

A graveside service will be held on Saturday, July 25 at Evergreen Cemetery, Converse Rd., Marion at 10 a.m.

Arrangements by Chapman, Cole & Gleason Funeral Home, Wareham.

Amelia M. (Denesha) Murphy, 90, of Marion died July 15, 2015 at Tobey Hospital.

She was the wife of the late Chesley Thomas Murphy.

Born in New Bedford, the daughter of the late Theodore and Victoria (Fredette) Denesha, she lived in New Bedford before moving to Rochester in 1969.

She was a communicant of St. Anthony's Church.

She enjoyed cooking and bingo.

Survivors include her 2 daughters, Victoria Brier and her husband Victor of Marion and Diane Harrington and her husband Timothy of West Wareham; many grandchildren and great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

She was the sister of the late Gene Denesha, Richard Denesha, Wally Denesha and Bertha Bessette.

Her family received guests on Tuesday in the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home For Funerals, 50 County Rd. (Rt. 6) Mattapoisett followed by her Graveside Service in the Massachusetts National Cemetery. For online guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

David G. Furtado, Sr., 71, of Mattapoisett died July 10, 2015 at home after a long illness.

Born in Mattapoisett, the son of the late Antone and Florence (Gallop) Furtado, he lived in Mattapoisett all of his life.

He was the proprietor of Antone's Restaurant and Furtado's Concrete Forms.

Survivors include 2 sons, Antone Furtado of Mattapoisett and David Furtado, Jr. of New Bedford; a sister, Judith Talgo of Fairhaven; a brother, Timothy Furtado of Rhode Island; 6 grandchildren; several great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

He was the brother of the late Nancy Jacques and Anthony Furtado.

His Graveside Service was held on Saturday, July 18th in St. John's Cemetery, 664 Allen St. New Bedford. Arrangements are with Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Road, Mattapoisett. For online guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

The 1961 film The Misfits is the third film in the series, to be shown on Tuesday, August 18. It features Monroe as a sensitive divorcée who gets mixed up with modern cowboys roping mustangs in the desert. Directed by John Huston, the film boasts an all-star cast, to include Clark Gable, Montgomery Clift, Eli Wallach and Thelma Ritter. The Misfits was a pioneering work in the development of the American Western - a more contemporary, nuanced take on the genre.

The series wraps up on August 25 with the screening of the legendary comedy Some Like It Hot. The 1959 film co-stars Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon as two musicians on the run from gangsters, masquerading as members of an all-girl band. Produced, directed and co-written by Billy Wilder, the broad farce features Monroe as a simple, singer/ukulele player with a soft spot for saxophone players and men with glasses. Along with Curtis' and Lemmon's dynamic performances, Ms. Monroe's charmingly naïve portrayal helped make Some Like It Hot one of the highest regarded comedies of all time.

Best of Marilyn Matinéés will be held in the front room of the Music Hall (164 Front Street in Marion) and offered free of charge to the public. Ample parking is available across the street at Island Wharf. Films begin at 11:00 am, and attendees are encouraged to bring a brown bag lunch to enjoy during the presentation. For more

Ricky Anthony Pursley, 60, passed away peacefully at Tobey Hospital surrounded by his family in Wareham, Massachusetts on Thursday, June 11, 2015. He was born and raised in Mattapoisett, Massachusetts on July 11, 1954 to Gene Pursley and Evelyn (Silveira) Pursley.

He is predeceased by his paternal grandparents, Everett and Bertie Julia (White) Pursley, his maternal grandparents, Antone and Carolinda (Avila) Silveira; by his parents Gene and Evelyn (Silveira) Pursley; his uncle, Milton A. Silveira. He is also predeceased by his youngest daughter, Rianna S. Pursley. He is survived by his daughters, Carinda (Pursley) Soulos and husband, Perry; Julia (Pursley) Fill and husband, Dan. He is also survived by his aunt, Alberta "Birdie" Silveira; cousin, Leland Silveira and wife, Lara; cousin, Doug Silveira; cousin, Carolyn Krumrey and husband, Bill; cousin, Scott Silveira and wife, Susan.

Ricky was a proud graduate of Old Rochester Regional High School, 1972, and Boston University (B.A. Political Science) 1976. He attended Southwestern University School of Law from 1976-1978. He moved to Arlington, Virginia in 1980 where he worked for Arnold & Porter as a Legal Copyeditor (1980-1985) in Washington, D.C. Arnold & Porter merged into Fisher Wayland Cooper Leader & Zaragoza LLP where he worked as an Information Services Manager and Research Librarian (1985-1997). The company underwent another merge and became Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman LLP where he worked as a Communications Analyst (1997-2005). In 2005 he was laid off from Shaw Pittman LLP and began to pursue his passion of writing as a professional career. He worked as a writer, editor, reporter, and journalist until his death.

In 2009 he moved from Arlington, Virginia back to his hometown, Mattapoisett, MA to help care for his elderly mother. He resided in Mattapoisett until his death, during this time he worked for a variety of newspapers including The Wanderer, The Sentinel, and The Standard-Times. He worked closely with his beloved friend and Sentinel Editor Chris Reagle. During this time he wrote dozens of short stories and poems. His poetry collection, Songs from the Road, was published in 2012 by Grace Notes Books. He was also published in numerous online and local magazines. In 2011 he began to have various health issues which led to his death. He was able to spend the last years of his life writing, reading, and having intellectual discussions with other writers and poets. He will always be remembered through his stories and poems and will be missed by all that knew and loved him.

A memorial service will be held on Monday, July 27 at 11:00 a.m. at Ned's Point in Mattapoisett, MA. Arrangements are with the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home for Funerals, 50 County Rd., Route 6, Mattapoisett. For online condolence book, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

a wide range of music. The conductors this summer are Merrillan Melberg, Daniela Chirigotis and Thomas Short. ACE rehearses each day at Fairhaven High School from 9:00 am until noon and presents a series of concerts to conclude its third and final week.

This is a traditional Pops Concert, and the selections are joyous and full of life! Eagerly anticipated will be our encore, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," by John Philip Sousa. The flag artwork, 15-feet by 9-feet, lowered during the performance of this patriotic work was created by residents of Alden Court, a Fairhaven nursing home. Many of our enthusiastic seniors come to enjoy one of the evening concerts!

Dates for the concert are Thursday, July 23 at 7:00 pm and Friday, July 24 at 7:00 pm in the air-conditioned, handicapped accessible Performing Arts Center Fairhaven High School (Larch Avenue side).

All performances are free. ACE is supported by donations from individuals and businesses, the Fairhaven Public Schools, and Arts Lottery Grants from Acushnet, Dartmouth, Fairhaven, Rochester, and Westport, which are supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency.

take place this year, rain or shine, on Saturday, October 3 between 10:00 am and 4:00 pm. To date we have some entertainment news to share.

The Starry Night Duo, who will play inside the old Town House, includes Barry Simon on hammered dulcimer and Patty Simon on flutes and mountain dulcimer. This local pair plays an eclectic variety of music from lively Celtic and Appalachian tunes to fresh arrangements of classical and sacred pieces, plus soulful originals. They have released three CDs to date.

Town Crier George Hebert of West Bridgewater will be roaming the grounds letting everyone know what the activities are and where to locate them. One activity he will help you find is the Silent Auction table so you can bid on some of the great Silent Auction items.

As always, there will be artisans and craftsmen selling their own skillfully handcrafted work and nonprofit organizations ranging from community service organizations to environmental groups there to educate the public on their causes. For anyone interested in participating in the festival, email the Craft Committee at

MOVIE REVIEW

Lost Boys

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

What We Do in the Shadows*. Directed by and starring Jemaine Clement and Taika Waititi. Running time: 85 minutes. MPAA rating: R.

The secret of the great mockumentary What We Do in the Shadows, which comes to DVD this week, is that it would almost be as funny if it weren't about vampires. But the vampires here, along with various werewolves, zombies, and the occasional human, are written so sharply and with such pungent idiosyncrasy that the comedy goes far beyond what you'd expect from a supernatural farce at this late date. The movie was written and directed by New Zealand comedians Jemaine Clement (of the musical-comedy duo Flight of the Conchords) and Taika Waititi, who also play two of the vamps, and their approach is generous, even affectionate. Everyone in the movie is allowed to be interesting, to seem as though they have inner lives and experiences outside the film.

Clement's Vladislav is your typical lordly, disdainful goth vampire, but with odd insecurities and frailties that take him down a peg -- since going up against a nemesis he calls The Beast, Vlad has never been the same. Waititi plays what could be considered Vlad's opposite, Viago, an affable and conciliatory vampire -- Michael Palin forty years ago would've played Viago to the hilt, and Waititi has some of Palin's bluff friendliness, which in the context of vampirism is hilarious. Deacon (Jonathan Brugh) is the youngest of these vamps, who all live together in a grungy flat; Deacon used to be "a Nazi vampire" and is now stringing along a human familiar (Jackie Van Beek) who yearns for eternal life. Finally, there's the hissing, Nosferatu-like Petyr (Ben Fransham), who's eight thousand years old and exists in the flat's basement.

The movie's joke -- that these vampires are essentially just idiot flatmates like the blokes on The Young Ones -- deepens when regular guy Nick (Cori Gonzalez-Macuer) is turned into a vamp by Petyr. Nick can get the other vamps into nightclubs they previously couldn't get invited into (a great detail), but they prefer the company of Nick's human buddy Stu (Stu Rutherford), who works in IT. For some reason, the entirely boring Stu charms practically every supernatural being he comes across, and one can't tell when he's been hypnotized into being oblivious to unearthly events and when he's just too dull to respond to them. The more often we see him, bland and potato-like, in the background of shots featuring bloodsuckers and zombies, the funnier Stu gets.

Yet this isn't a hip, cold comedy: Because our vampires care about Stu's safety, we do too. What We Do in the Shadows pokes gently relentless fun at the mope-rock self-seriousness of vamps, goths, self-styled outsiders, without really attacking what they are. The sensibility is Christopher Guest's democratic mockumentary vibe by way of the self-parodic pomp of Morrissey. The unsmiling Vladislav actually has reasons to be gloomy, but that doesn't seriously affect the fun. The budget was obviously low, but the few visual effects always pack a witty punch, particularly when two of the vamps get into a "bat fight." If you thought it was no longer possible to mine the vampire film for fresh laughs, and even for unexpected pathos, you have a treat in store.

Mattapoisett Congregational Church Worship

Starting August 2, the Mattapoisett Congregational Church, UCC, will try something new and you are invited!

For the next four months, the church will hold casual, evening worship services on the first Sunday of the month: August 2, September 6, October 4 and November 1. Worship will begin at 7:00 pm in Reynard Hall, at the corner of Church and Mechanic Street in Mattapoisett. Talented musicians will provide the music, as worshippers enjoy informal "café-style" worship around tables.

"We know that many people simply cannot make a Sunday morning service," said the church's pastor, Rev. Amy Lignitz Harken. She cited youth sporting events, work obligations and out-of-town travel as reasons people can find Sunday mornings difficult. "Plus, many people like to spend a beautiful Sunday morning enjoying nature

A Bad Year For Tomatoes

Marion Art Center Players announce their summer production, A Bad Year For Tomatoes by John Patrick, a hilarious comedy in two acts. Directed by Rex McGraw, the show will open on Thursday, August 6 and runs on Friday, August 7, Saturday, August 8, Friday, August 14 and Saturday, August 15. All shows start at 7:30 pm.

The Story: Fed up with the pressures and demands of her acting career, the famous Myra Marlowe (played by Cynthia Latham) leases a house in the tiny New England hamlet of Beaver Haven and settles down to write her autobiography. She is successful in turning aside the offers pressed on her by her long-time agent (played by Jay Ryan), but dealing with her nosy, omnipresent neighbors (played by Suzie Kokkins, Suzy Taylor and Susan Sullivan) is a different matter. In an attempt to shoo them away and gain some privacy, Myra invents a mad, homicidal sister—who is kept locked in an upstairs room, but who occasionally escapes long enough to scare off uninvited visitors. The ruse works well, at first, but complications result when the local handyman (played by Thom O'Shaughnessy) develops an affection for "Sister Sadie" (really Myra in a fright wig) and the nosy lady neighbors decide it is their Christian duty to save the poor demented Sadie's soul. In desperation, Myra announces that her imaginary sibling has suddenly gone off to Boston, which brings on the sheriff (played by Mark Letourneau) and the suspicion of murder! Needless to say, all is straightened out in the end, but the uproarious doings will keep audiences laughing right up to the final curtain, and then some.

This play is the perfect evening out in the air-conditioned theater at the Marion Art Center. Get a group of four together and reserve a cabaret table! Tickets are $12.50 for MAC members and $15 for general admission. Guests are invited to bring their own refreshments. Cabaret tables are available for reserved parties of four or more.

The Marion Art Center is located at 80 Pleasant Street in Marion, MA 02738.

Marion Is Getting A Senior Center!

Well, maybe not a complete Senior Center, but we're making a start with a mini version beginning on August 3 at The Music Hall on Front Street.

It will probably be some time before a true Senior Center is a reality for Marion so the COA, along with the help from the Friends of the Marion Council on Aging and the Music Hall Committee, is going to offer a Mini Senior Center every Monday from 9:30 am to 2:00 pm at the Music Hall.

The day will begin with the weekly Blood Pressure Clinic from 9:30 - 11:30 am. At the same time, Chair Yoga (with Pamela Smith Paquette) will be offered in another room from 10:00 - 11:00 am. From 11:30 am to 12:45 pm, a conversation/social hour with free lunch will take place, (Libby O'Neill will be available on August 3 to answer any of your technology questions) followed by a "Learning and Leisure" lecture from 1:00 - 2:00 pm. The blood Pressure Clinic, Chair Yoga, and lunch/social hour will continue every Monday throughout the month of August. The lecture hour will offer varied topics:
 August 3: "Furniture Flip" with Harriet Ingerslev
 August 10: "Insomnia" with Dr. Katherine Krefft
 August 17: "Meet Cecil Clark Davis" with Wendy Bidstrup
 August 24: "The Card Lady" with Marge Primavera
 August 31: "The Arts will Change Your Life" with Mary

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Starting something new is always exciting for the adventurous Aries. And here's the good news: This time you might be able to get some assistance in helping you finish what you've started.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Put your day-dreaming penchant on hold for now, and face the facts as they are, not as you'd like them to be. Your customary hardheaded approach to "deals," etc., is called for.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Problems beyond your control might delay some of your plans. But things should start to get back to normal by mid-week. The weekend could bring an unexpected (but welcome) visitor.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It's a good time to buckle down and tackle those unfinished tasks so you'll be ready to take on other projects. The week's end could bring an invitation from a most surprising source.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Mixed signals could create a few stressful moments for the Lion. But by midweek, explanations should help ease the tension. The weekend is party time! Share it with someone special.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a good "catching up" week for finishing tasks, calling old friends and maybe reading that book you haven't opened yet or renting that movie you wanted to see again.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Money matters should be worked out, even if it takes time away from a more romantic situation. Better to settle things before feelings turn hard and angry on all sides.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A job-related problem could turn out to be less troublesome than it seemed at first. Just a few moments of talk 'twixt the parties resolves everything to everyone's satisfaction.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) The Sagittarian Archer takes aim at health and fitness issues this week. Watch your diet, and try to put more exercise time into your typically busy schedule.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) As you continue to focus on a career or job change, it's a good time to look over some of your rarely used skills and see where they can fit into your future workplace plans.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A loved one's health might be worrisome, but there's good news by midweek. Expect people who share your ideas and your goals to try to contact you by the week's end.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A colleague's request that makes the typically perceptive Pisces feel uncomfortable is a request you probably will want to turn down. The weekend favors family get-togethers.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a gift for making others feel warm and wanted. Even newcomers will feel like old friends.

(c) 2015 King Features Synd., Inc.

Performing with Ms. Daskalakis will be Nina Tichman and Anthony Spiri on piano, Andria Chang on violin, Sebastian Gottschick on viola and Paige Riggs on cello. The Library concert will include works by Debussy, Nono and Leclair.

In addition to the concert at the library, there will be a concert on Sunday, July 26 at 5:00 pm at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Wareham and on Friday, July 31 at 8:00 pm, the ensemble will perform at St. Gabriel's Church in Marion. The final performance will take place on Saturday, August 1 at 5:00 pm at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Wareham and will be a fundraiser to benefit the Tobey Hospital Guild. For more information, visit www.mlewareham.org.

Admission to all performances is by donation.

Tri-Town Area Mentors Needed

What kind of place could Wareham become if all children attended school, set goals, rejected peer pressure, and had the confidence to dream and succeed in life? This is the goal of the Big Brothers Big Sisters Program of Child & Family Services.

Communities need to provide positive role models for youth, and one local program has proven successful. Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS) organization's mission is to "change children's lives for the better, forever." BBBS fills a critical gap by emphasizing strong social bonds in children's lives and by providing positive adults to support children in need.

Who are the "Littles"? According to Deanna Bodeau, Program Coordinator for Big Brothers Big Sisters of Child and Family Services, those currently waiting are ages 7-14 and most come from either single parent homes or live with their grandparents.

What is the time commitment? "Bigs" are asked to spend four hours per month with their "Little." This sounds like a lot, but it's not. Pick a Saturday, grab ice cream, go to the park, the zoo, stop by the library, and before you know it, it's been four hours! So if you're really busy, one day a month is really all it takes!

What do matches do together? This is all based on your "Little" and their unique interests. You can go bowling, see a movie, or play mini-golf. You might surprise them on occasion by taking them somewhere truly amazing, like a show, the theatre, or an amusement park. This is your chance to show them a world they have never dreamed of.

How does BBBS help kids? Children aim higher, enhance their confidence, and learn to create stronger, more positive relationships. A strong role model helps them avoid risky behaviors (drop-out, drug/alcohol abuse, etc.). A positive and encouraging mentor also helps children obtain and retain educational success – one of the greatest challenges facing youth in Wareham today.

What can you do to help? Contact Deanna Bodeau, Big Brothers Big Sisters Program Coordinator, at dbodeau@cfservices.org or 508-990-0894. There are lots of boys and girls in your surrounding community waiting for someone like you to make a difference. Be a Mentor!

Bourne Wareham Art Show

The Bourne Wareham Art Association will hold their 51th Annual Art Show and Sale at Buzzards Bay Park, Bourne, MA on Saturday, August 8, from 10:00 am to 3:30 pm. The Art Association was organized in 1963 by a group of artists and art lovers in conjunction with the 50th Anniversary celebration of the opening of the Cape Cod Canal. The purpose of the group is to promote the appreciation of fine arts in the Canal area. The Association has held an art show every year since 1963 to benefit annual BWAA art achievement awards for local art students. This year, awards were presented to Danielle Simpkin and Katie Motta, both students at Apponequet Regional HS.

Visit the show and meet local artists who will be exhibiting award winning original fine art working all mediums as well as photography, jewelry and

Marion Rochester Youth Soccer League

Marion Rochester Youth Soccer League (Fall Recreation) deadline is August 15.

Marion Rochester Youth Soccer Club is taking registrations for the upcoming Fall Recreational Season which kicks off in September. Formerly Oceaneer's Youth Soccer, the MRYS is now under the leadership and directorship of Jody Dickerson from the Marion Recreation Department. Don't miss this upcoming fall season. You can register in person at the Marion Recreation Department on Atlantis Drive in Marion; please see Jill Pitman to drop off your registration. You can also register on the MRYS Soccer website at www.MRYouthSoccer.org and click on "Registration" tab from the home page.

We are also still looking for Fall Travel players for our Boys U12, Boys U10, and Boys U8 Fall Travel Soccer Teams. We have scheduled another "Try Out" for these teams for July 28 from 5:30 - 7:00 pm at Dexter Lane in Rochester. If you would like more information about our Fall Travel Program or would like to attend the July 28 "Try Out," please email info@marionrecreation.com or phone us at 774-217-8355 in advance.

Moonlight Kayaking on Leonard's Pond

The Rochester Land Trust invites kayakers and canoeists to join them for a Full Moon Adventure on Leonard's Pond on Saturday, August 1 at 7:00 pm. You need to bring your own kayak/canoe, bring bug spray and a flashlight and wear a life vest.

We will put in at the Town's Kayak/Canoe access lot to Leonard's Pond on Mary's Pond Road. Cars can park along the bog roads across the street after launching if needed. Moonrise is scheduled for 8:45 pm, so plan to paddle thru twilight to enjoy the full effect!

This paddle is another in RLT's series featuring Open Space properties listed in their Explore Rochester Guide. Copies are still available at the Town Hall Annex.

Marion Library Book Sale

Don't miss the Elizabeth Taber Library's Annual book sale this summer! It will be held at the Marion Music Hall, 164 Front St, on Friday, August 7 from 4:00 - 7:00 pm and Saturday, August 8 from 9:00 am - 1:00 pm. There will be over 3,000 items for sale including books for all ages, DVDs and more!

The Elizabeth Taber Library is funded in only two-thirds part by the Town of Marion, and the remaining one-third is through the generous donations and this book sale. Our goal for the library is for it to be much more than just a place we go to check out books; it should also be a place to participate, face to face, in community activities

Gateway Youth Hockey Golf Classic

Please join us to raise money for Gateway Youth Hockey. Gateway Youth Hockey is a nonprofit organization solely based on the children. Our goal is to help children from the Tri-Town area continue to participate in youth hockey and to provide learn-to-skate programs for all ages at the lowest cost possible, allowing any child to play! The proceeds from this golf tournament will help in allowing more children to be able to play hockey. It will also help defer the cost of equipment and ice time.

The golf classic and raffles will take place at Bay Pointe Golf Club, 19 Bay Pointe Drive, Onset, MA on Saturday, August 1 with a 1:00 pm shot gun start time! Cost is $500 per foursome; $125 per single person. For additional information, please contact Ben Hathaway, President, at 774-454-1114 or Jenny Wilson, Head of

A poster for a Lagunitas Beer Dinner. The top features the text "the inn" in a stylized font, with "ON SHIPYARD PARK" underneath. Below this is the main title "Lagunitas Beer Dinner!" in a large, bold font. The text continues: "Five Courses paired with five Lagunitas beers." followed by "July 28, 2015 at 7:00pm". The price is listed as "$55/per person (includes tax & gratuity)" and a note says "Reservations are required. Seats are limited to 25." The Marion Community Fund was established in 1999 by a private donor to provide qualified Marion homeowners with property tax relief. The Fund's goal is to preserve the town's diversity and character by providing property tax relief for Marion homeowners who are a key part of the town's makeup and who might be forced to leave Marion due to higher taxes. There are no age restrictions on this grant.

The Marion Community Fund hopes people of all ages who qualify will apply. If you are a Marion homeowner, have owned your home for at least one

Marion Master Plan Forum

The Town of Marion is updating its Master Plan (MP), a document that will guide the Town's evolution through the coming decade and beyond. Community input is essential for producing a valuable, constructive MP. All interested in having a "voice" should plan to attend the Public Forum on Saturday, August 1 at 9:00 am in the Marion Music Hall. The discussion will be on housing, economic development, and land use.

The MP addresses housing and business development, infrastructure needs, natural resource protection, and public service plans. Massachusetts requires that municipalities update their MP every 8-10 years and makes it a prerequisite to obtain state funding for community development. Marion last updated its MP in 2006.

The Planning Board is leading the MP process, assisted by professionals from the Southeast Regional Planning and Economic Development District (SRPEDD)

Old Rochester Farmers' Market

The Old Rochester Farmers' Market runs every Tuesday from 3:00 - 7:00 pm outside the ORRHHS. This year's market will have two produce farms, Cervelli's and Skinny a Dip (organic); Sweet and Salty Farm which has veal and yogurt; Wyandotte Farm with chicken and a variety of other meats; and Robbins Trout Farm with fresh-harvested trout. The market also has cheese, bread, honey, oils & vinegars, fresh ground coffee, sweets (also gluten free and vegan options), homemade pies, sweet and savory cinnamon rolls, freshly popped kettle corn, organic baby food, barbecue sauces, soups, toffee, jams and herbs. Additionally, artisan vendors with soaps, candles, skin products, jewelry, roped nautical items, and organic and gluten-free pet treats. Lastly, the market will include healthy option food vendors and Running Brooke Vineyards winery. We also welcome weekly guest vendors. Come check us out – an event the whole family can enjoy with musical entertainment and free face painting!

2 Spring Street. Festivities begin at 4:00 pm. Proceeds will be distributed between the Marion Firefighters Association and Marion Recreation to benefit local community needs.

There will be food and beverages for sale. Also, as in past years we will have a fabulous selection of baked goods for sale at the Bake Sale Table. FREE bounce houses sponsored by the Marion Police Brotherhood, a FREE rock climbing wall, music and a Photo Booth by Ensemble Events as well! PLUS, a huge bonfire! A great night of fun for the entire family!

New this year, organizers are seeking corporate sponsors. We will have different levels of sponsorship. Also, we will be selling advertising space in the Town Party booklet. This is a great opportunity for local businesses to get the word out and advertise their businesses.

Donations from the community are needed to help underwrite the event. Food, services, bake sale items, cash or any other in-kind donation would be greatly appreciated. All contributions are tax deductible.

For further information or to make a donation, please contact Steve Gonsalves at 508-264-5852, Chris Berg at 508-776-1615, Jody Dickerson at 774-217-8355, or you may send a check to Marion Recreation, 13 Atlantis Drive, Marion, Massachusetts, 02738.

Welcome

- If you are alienated or upset, we welcome you lovingly.
- If you are in need of forgiveness, Jesus forgives you completely—with unconditional love.
- If you have been hurt by the Church, we are truly sorry.
- If you are angry, Jesus offers you peace.
- If life has become burdensome, we are here to support you.
- We are happy you are here and want you to stay.
- We would like to share our lives with you.
- Come join us each week so we can worship together.
